YOUR VIEWS AND MINE!

A Weekly Column of Local Gossip

By "The Scout"

HOUSE FULL!

The work of the Street Sleepers Shelter Society takes first place in this column to-day. The other day, I paid a visit to the "Shelter" and was surprised to see the number of poor people clamouring for admission, as, in these cold nights, the protection afforded is really appreciated by the poor. So great has been the number of people turned away each night that the Committee has unanimously decided to install more bunks in the space available and work towards this end is already progressing apace. Not every applicant for a night's lodging is from the poorest class in the community and the volunteer workers tell me that there have been some pitiful cases of educated men, down on their luck, who have gone to apply for a bunk and two gunny bags! Many touching human stories can be gathered at the "Shelter" by those whose task it is to question applicants and one or two instances are related below.

HOW OUR NEIGHBOURS LIVE.

One case which came to the shelter was that of a young boy of fourteen, a bright intelligent fellow, who had a slight fever every night. The boy was given a chit for admission into hospital but had refused to go there because, he explained to his benefactors, he had to earn his living by day. He takes on any work or odd job that is offered and manages to keep himself alive. One of the members of the Society is now trying to obtain regular employment for him, so that he could pay for medical attention. Another case which came to the "shelter" was that of a Straits born Chinese who had arrived here some four months ago looking for employment. Having failed to find it, he was forced to sleep in the streets. He sought admission at the shelter, but was too well-dressed to be admitted. One of the volunteer workers, pitying him, gave him some money out of his own pocket for him to seek lodgings elsewhere, and I think the man has now been found a job by some member of the Committee. One couple who regularly applied for admission could speak several European languages, and had a ready command of English. He was I understand, with the Chinese Labour Corp during the World War, but is now entirely destitute.

Miss Pool Ying Lam

The street sleepers are going to get a treat on Christmas morning, when broth will be served to them. The Society is certainly performing good community service and deserves every encouragement and support.

ACCOMPLISHED MUSICIAN

In this column to-day you will see the picture of Miss Pool Ying Lam, a Chinese girl who is an accomplished musician. Miss Pool proceeded from Canton to America some six years ago and was graduated at the Arrilaga Musical College of San Francisco. Tonight, she is giving a piano recital at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. and visitors are assured of a treat.

COURT CROWDS

The younger set of the Chinese community was strongly represented at Mr. Hamilton's court on Monday when the abduction case was due to come up for hearing. The court room was absolutely packed by 2.30 p.m., the time fixed for the hearing, and still the crowd kept growing and the scene was reminiscent of the days when Cheng Kwok Yau appeared before Mr. Wynne Jones in the preliminary stages of his trial for the murder of George Fung. When a good cause such as the Street Sleepers' Society needs volunteer workers, most people are too busy to assist, but no matter how long an interesting case lasts there are always many who can find time to attend. The trial of Cheng Kwok Yau extended over three weeks at the Magistrate's Court, but each day there was no room for the late comers. How do these people find the time to follow the case and do they take the same intelligent interest in public matters?

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Readers of "Echoes of 1859" which appears regularly in the columns of the Daily Press may have been amused to read of the Government's offer of a prize of $1,000 in those days for a feasible plan for supplying water to the inhabitants of Hongkong. It seems that the water problem has been with us all these years and despite the construction of several big reservoirs since Hongkong's earliest days, we are not yet out of the wood so far as the Colony's water supply is concerned, for we are not still on a water ration. Another interesting excerpt from the "Daily Press" files shows what havoc was wrought when a fire broke out in those days. There was no regular fire brigade and the naval ratings were the fire-fighters, on whom the community depended. Their method, in the absence of an adequate water supply, appeared to be that of pulling down all combustible structures to the windward side of an outbreak and thus prevent its spreading!

AN APPEAL

Thursday's Naval Parade at Happy Valley was a spectacular show, but only those who were admitted into the Race Course and those who were members of the Jockey Club were able to watch it. The Police prevented many people from entering the road that runs through the Race Course from the Football Club to the Civil Service Club. A big parade occurs so rarely in Hongkong that the authorities might stretch a point in future and allow members of the public an opportunity of seeing it. It is true that the road in question had to be kept clear, but I think only a part of it was used by those on parade. The closing of the whole road therefore did not seem entirely necessary.

NEWFOUNDLAND DEBTS

Royal Assent Given To New Bill

London, Dec. 21. The Newfoundland Bill received the Royal Assent to-day, and an offer is made to the holders of the various Newfoundland loan obligations to change into new guaranteed three per cent stock, repayable in whole or in part, at par on July 1, 1935 or, at the option of Newfoundland, on or after July 1, 1943, on three months' notice being given.

The principal interest and sinking fund are guaranteed by the British Treasury.

The Stock will have a sinking fund of one per cent per annum on the total nominal amount issued, the first payment being made not later than July 1, 1935. Exchange will be on the basis of £100 of the new stock for every £100 of existing sterling bonds or stocks or in the case of dollar bonds with the right to payment in sterling for every £100 of nominal sterling equivalent at 4.86-2/3 dollars to the pound.

Application for exchange must be made not later than 31st July, 1934.

Excepting for inter-governmental advances and securities which are to be repaid, the exchange offer applies to the whole public debt of Newfoundland, including those securities which rank as trustee issues in Britain.—British Wireless.

HITLER ADDRESSES KOELN CADETS

Enemies' Manifestation Of Hatred and Antipathy

Berlin, Dec. 13.

Chancellor Hitler yesterday addressed the crew and cadets of the German training cruiser Koeln, on her arrival at Wilhelmshafen, following a world cruise, during which they visited a number of Far Eastern ports including Shanghai.

"You were particularly struck," he said, "by the feeling of hatred and antipathy manifested by our enemies in the world towards the resurrection of the German nation, as they saw in you the representatives of that Germany hated by them."

"Germany," Chancellor Hitler added, "proclaimed to the world her sincere wish for peace, expressly stating that we shall at all times defend our honour and the vital rights of our people. This is not a provocation but a demand that we should be given equal rights with other nations."

ATLANTIC AIR ROUTE

May Open In Spring

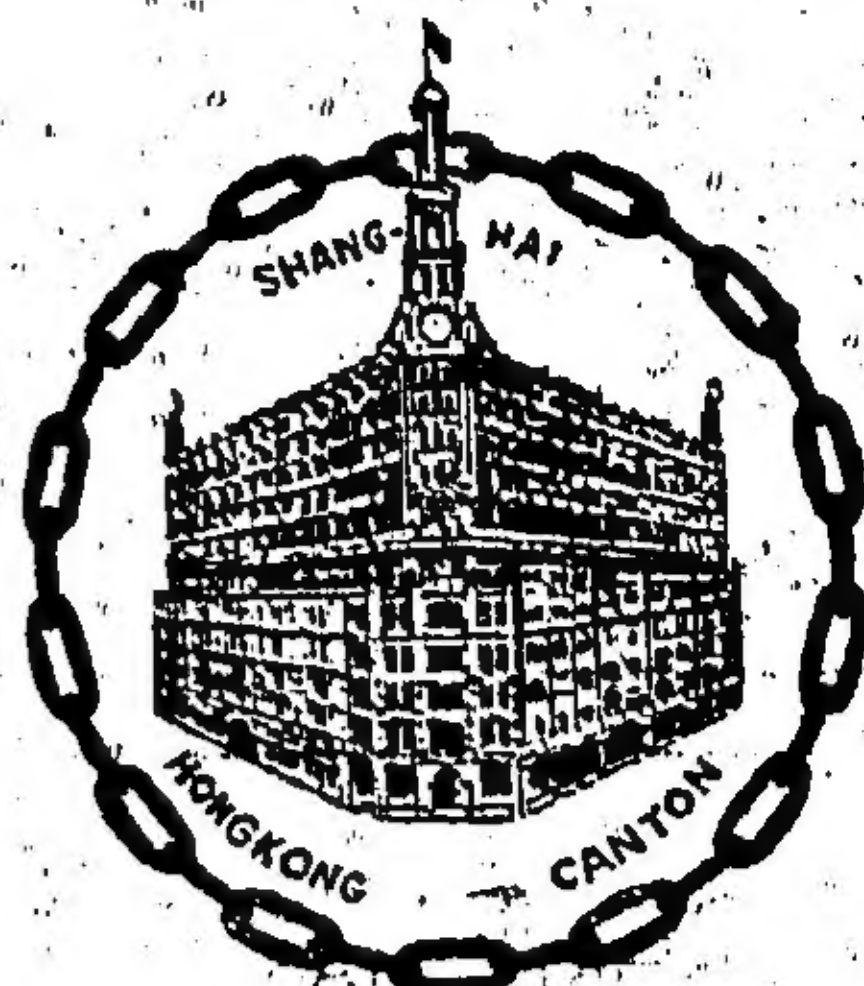

News has been received in London that, as a result of Col. Lindbergh's tour of Europe, it is hoped to start the first Transatlantic air passenger service in the spring.

In all probability Col. Lindbergh himself will blaze the trail of the first regular Transatlantic air passenger service by piloting the first plane himself.

The proposed route, for which the Pan-American Airways Co. are building special machines, is from the United States to Iceland, and then to Denmark.

HIRE-PURCHASE SCHEMES

Financing Problems

Whether it be good or evil, there is no doubt that the hire-purchase system of trading has become permanent in this country, even if it has not reached the dimensions which are common elsewhere. The result is that no retailer can afford to refuse this facility to the purchaser, but while the necessary financial arrangements provide no obstacle to the large undertaking, they may impose a considerable burden on the smaller firm. This difficulty has, of course, been largely overcome with the assistance of financiers, who, at a price, liquidate the purchaser's debt to the retailer, and subsequently collect the sum owing from the former. In practice, however, this system has not been without its disadvantages. Where the examination of the "bona fides" of the purchaser has been left to the retailer, he has shown an optimism which might not have been exhibited had the risk been his alone, while where the matter has had to be referred to a central authority, delays have occurred which have not been good for trade. To overcome these drawbacks, a scheme has been evolved by the mutual trade protection movement throughout Great Britain in co-operation with the Bankers' Commercial Security, whereby the approval of credit risks and the receipt of payments will be delegated to the local trade protection societies.

BEARDMORE DIESELS AT DALMUIR WORKS

Magnificent New 225 b.h.p. High Speed Engine

Since the beginning of this year big developments have been in progress in the engineering department of Messrs. William Beardmore and Co., Ltd., and now the Diesel and general engineering, as well as the marine activities of the firm, are concentrated at their Dalmuir works.

At present, there are nearly a thousand men employed at Dalmuir on a wide range of work—high-pressure turbines, boilers, gear, and internal combustion engines for road, rail, marine, and generating sets. Altogether there are something like 100 sets of Diesel engines on hand, while another encouraging feature is the fact that a number of the Diesels are for export to foreign countries, and I learn that British oil engines are not merely holding their own, but are enhancing their position in the foreign market.

Among the foreign work on hand at Dalmuir are engines for Poland, Spain, and Roumania, and I understand inquiries are coming forward from other foreign operators.

Work is now being speeded up on the Admiralty orders—turbines and boilers for two cruisers—and although the firm are not working to full capacity they will soon be busier than they have been for many years, and every other week more workers are finding employment.

FOREIGN ORDER

I had an opportunity the other day of seeing a demonstration of the new six-cylinder 225 h.p. high-speed oil engine, which have been built at Dalmuir for a foreign Government. These engines are of a new design and represent the result of some ten years of research work and study of the high-speed Diesel problem. During this period 7,000,000 train miles have been covered by Beardmore Diesel engines, and data gained from their experience, together with that obtained from other applications of the Diesel engine, have been made full use of in producing the new design.

Although the engines demonstrated are for installation in high-speed river craft the design is such that they are equally suitable for high-speed generating and pumping plant, and as prime movers for railway traction purposes, with either electrical or mechanical transmission. In this connection it is interesting to note that the firm have some further engines of the same type in hand, one of which is for installation in a locomotive now being built at the works of Messrs. Hawthorn Leslie, on the Tyne.

As the recent acceptance trials of the engines demonstrated a full-power trial was run at 1200 r.p.m. at 225 h.p. The engines were then put up to 250 h.p. at the same revolutions for a period of two hours, and finally they were run for a short period at 1300 r.p.m., and developed 280 h.p. All trials passed off without incident, and were completely satisfactory, the fuel consumption being within the guaranteed figure without utilising the tolerance which had been agreed to by the purchasers.

It is interesting to note that the weight of each engine is only 2 tons 7 cwt., complete with self-contained auxiliaries, clutch, reverse gear, and silencer.

DETAILS OF NEW ENGINE

The new 225 b.h.p. high-speed Beardmore Diesel has many interesting mechanical and metallurgical features, a few of which are briefly outlined here. The engine is of robust design, light in weight, and special attention has been given to ease of dismantling the various auxiliaries and those component parts which require inspection.

The crankcase is of nickel chrome cast iron. The upper part forms the water-jacket around the cylinder liners. The camshaft is carried in a chamber formed at the top and front side of the engine, and enclosed when the camshaft is in position by a detachable cover plate. The lower part of the crankcase carries the main bearings with an additional bearing at the flywheel end, which is arranged to take any end thrust on the crankshaft. Access doors facilitate removal of the connecting rod, large and bearings.

The cylinder head is generally constructed of aluminium alloy, but where salt-water cooling is employed is of nickel cast iron. With aluminium the valve seats of alloy steel are cast in. The head contains one inlet and one exhaust valve arranged centrally along the centre line of the engine, the fuel injector being at the side and arranged horizontally.

VALVES AND VALVE GEAR

The inlet and exhaust valves work in guides pressed into the cylinder head. The exhaust valve is made of special heat-resisting steel, and this with the inlet valve are fitted with double concentric springs, the upper spring cages being held in place by split cone washers fitting into recesses formed on the valve spindles. On the tops of the spindles steel caps are fitted which contain hardened steel balls provided with flat surfaces for making contact with the tappets on the valve-rocker levers. The balls oscillate in their steel containers, and wear on the tappets is eliminated. The latter are easily adjustable to give the correct clearances.

GEAR TRAIN

The gear train is housed between two walls forming a chamber, at the flywheel end of the engine. Certain of the gear wheels have single helical teeth to give silent running; others have plain spur teeth. The wheels are mounted on fixed spindles and provided with long bronze bush bearings lubricated under pressure. The first gear engaging the driving pinion in the crankshaft is arranged at the side of the latter, and any variation in the vertical position of the crankshaft during adjustment of the main bearings does not affect the correct meshing of the gears. In addition to driving the fuel pump, governor, and camshaft, at the flywheel end of the engine a drive is provided to a layshaft, carried in the underbed of the engine. This layshaft transmits the drive to the water circulating and bilge pumps, lubricating oil and fuel booster pumps located at the opposite end of the engine. All the auxiliaries and other drives are therefore taken from the flywheel end, and, consequently, not subjected to the effects of any torsional oscillations in the crankshaft system.

The fuel pump is located on the same side of the engine as the atomiser and camshaft. It is compact in form and easily removable for inspection. The drive is taken through an Oldham coupling from the main gear train, adjustment being provided at the coupling to facilitate timing the pump. The pump is of the constant stroke variable delivery type, the plungers being driven by a half-speed camshaft.

The measurement of fuel and its period of injection is controlled by the plunger, which is capable of partial rotation, this movement being effected by the governor. The liner is made in two parts, the lower portion having a helical upper edge which controls the end of injection, while the upper portion is recessed and fitted over the lower part, the upper end of the recess controlling the start of injection.

The atomiser is of the "closed" differential spring loaded needle type. It consists of a stamped steel body with removable hardened steel guide and hardened steel needle, the adjustable spring holding the needle upon a coned seat in the steel nozzle, which is of the multi-hole type.

RULING AND DRAWING STENCIL

Our attention has recently been drawn to the uses and advantages of the Manormus drawing instrument. This consists of a ruling stencil, protractor, and lettering guide made of transparent celluloid and measuring 7 in. by 3 1/2 in., the longitudinal edges of which are parallel. Of the lateral edges, that on the right is rectangular, and that on the left is cut off at an angle of 75 deg. Conical holes, to the number of 230 have been drilled in the stencil. These are drilled with accuracy, and act as a guide when the point of the pencil is put perpendicularly into the required hole and the stencil moved along the ruler or T-square. By means of the holes, parallel lines, squares, rectangles, hatchings, auxiliary lines for lettering, and other ruled lines circles, of radii ranging from 1/10 in. to 2 1/2 in. can also be described. By using the left edge of the instrument guide lines for oblique lettering can be drawn; for upright lettering the right edge is used. The stencil should prove useful, not only to engineering draughtsmen, but also to architects, surveyors, and other professional men, and students.

ELECTRIC EXTENSIONS IN SHANGHAI

Turbo Generator On Way From England

The latest turbo generator unit of Riverside is now on the way to Shanghai from England and preparations for its installation are well forward.

The plant consists of a 22,500 k.w. super-efficient Curtis Type Impulse Reaction 2-cylinder turbine manufactured by The British Thomson-Houston Co., Ltd. of Rugby, England, and direct coupled to a B.T.H. 25,000 k.v.a. alternator.

The set will run at a speed of 3,000 revolutions per minute and will exhaust into a horizontal two-pass surface type condenser manufactured by Messrs. Worthington-Simpson Co., Ltd., Newark, England. The condenser will have a total cooling surface of 20,800 square feet. The circulating water and extraction pumps for this condensing plant will be driven by motors of British Thomson-Houston manufacture.

Three stages of the turbine will be utilised for extracting steam for use with high, intermediate and low pressure Worthington-Simpson feed heaters to give a final feed-water temperature of 265 deg. F. Steam will be supplied to the turbine at 350 lb. per sq. in. (gauge) and 700 deg. F. temperature.

The set will be used as a base load unit and its economy in operation is therefore of the greatest importance.

The high-pressure steam rotor weighs 4 1/2 tons. The low-pressure rotor weighs 9 tons and the electrical rotor 15 tons. This means that nearly 30 tons of material are revolving at 3,000 revolutions per minute.

The weight of the generator stator is 48 tons and the weight of the complete unit 190 tons. The overall length of the set is 55 feet, the width 13 feet, and the height from the floor to the top of the unit 11 feet 8 inches. The quantity of oil circulated through the oil coolers by the main oil pump is 135,000 lb. per hour.

The materials used in the manufacture of the turbine are of the very highest grade, special alloy steels being employed for the rotating parts, etc.

In recent years more than 68,000 k.w. of B.T.H. turbine plant has been supplied to China and placed in successful commission at Hong-kong, Kowloon, Tsingtao, Hangchow, Nanking, Nanchang, Mentokou and Anking.

Our Best Wishes to All for A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year.

"My Weakness"

At The King's Theatre

"My Weakness" the second of Lillian Harvey's pictures made under the Fox banner is a decided success. From start to finish this film is bright and irresponsible, and happy-go-lucky gaiety added to slightly spiced daring is the keynote throughout. Miss Harvey's rendering of the song "Gather 'Round Yule While You May" is in the star's most versatile manner, which will not fail to amuse you as it did her suitors in the play.

This has been described as the "Sunny Side Up" of 1933. It has the same kind of appeal, and Lew Ayres offers excellent support. He falls a victim to her charms, but Cupid almost gives up trying to make any impression on this hard-boiled young man. The theme song "Be Careful" is sung by China dogs, frogs, statues, and Toby Jugs in Miss Harvey's apartment. This idea is both unique and enjoyable. The King's theatre management are putting on a special holiday programme in conjunction with "My Weakness", there is a Xmas number which should prove ideal for the kiddies, as well as a movie news. On the whole it is a well-planned programme which will appeal to all who enjoy good hearty laughs. This picture is being shown to-morrow.

ISLAND OF LOST SOULS

At The Central Theatre

Charles Laughton, famous character actor, portrays the half-mad scientist, Dr. Moreau in "Island of Lost Souls," now showing at the Central Theatre. Creator of beast-men he believes himself possessed of God-like powers. Others in the cast of this fantastic H. G. Wells romance are: Bela Lugosi, Richard Arlen, Leila Hyams and the "Panther Woman."

Can life be created? H. G. Wells thinks so. The world-famous author who flouted the British scientific world more than a quarter of a century ago with his fantastic conception of men created from beasts was ridiculed, laughed at and mocked for his conception.

To-day, perhaps, we are approaching the first tentative steps to new horizons in the world of creative biology. And the authority for this is Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of the Bronx Zoological Gardens, and renowned authority on animal life.

Wells tells of his beast-man, and his panther-woman, in the fantastic novel, "Island of Dr. Moreau" which has reached the screen as "Island of Lost Souls."

Dr. Ditmars tells us, even more fascinating experiment—clothed in full reality, actually taking place at this moment in New York City.

MR. FOX AND HIS CINEMAS

Alleged Sale "Under Duress"

(Special Air-Mail Service)

New York, Nov. 29.

Mr. William Fox, the retired film magnate, was a witness before the Senate Investigating Committee in connection with the committee's inquiry into the operations of the Chase National Bank. Mr. Fox declared that the bankers had forced him to sell control of his 1,000 theatres "under duress."

Mr. Fox went on to say that before purchasing control of Loew's Incorporated in 1928 he consulted Mr. William Donovan, formerly Assistant Attorney-General, to learn whether the Department of Justice would object. The Attorney-General's office informed him later that it was "all right," but after Mr. Hoover had been inaugurated as President he (Mr. Fox) became alarmed at the "hostile attitude" of the new Administration. He was told by a friend, he said, that a man named Claudius Huston might be able to help, and he conferred with Mr. Huston, then chairman of the Republican National Committee, and with Mr. J. F. Burke, its general counsel.

Later he went to see Mr. Hoover, and at a luncheon at the White House told him his trouble. Mr. Hoover told him that if his story were true, he had only to tell it to the Department of Justice. A few days later, Mr. Fox said, Mr. Huston and Mr. Burke met him in New York and suggested it would "pay" to have a talk with Mr. Louis Mayer, of California. Mr. Mayer had a contract with Loew's and was worried about that company's future under the Fox management. He felt that he should have shared in the profits of the sale of Loew's to Mr. Fox.

Mr. Mayer came to New York. Mr. Fox continued, and as he was still bitter about his loss of profit, he (Mr. Fox) promised to give him $2,000,000 cash when the companies were actually merged. Mr. Mayer was "very much pleased," and Mr. Fox told him about his difficulties with the Department of Justice. "He said he knew all about it," Mr. Fox went on, "and that he had had the record changed and could have it changed back, but that would be harder."

The Senate investigators introduced evidence showing that the interests which bought out Mr. Fox not only paid him $15,000,000 (over $3,000,000 at par), but also paid $1,000,000 to Mr. Samuel Untermyer and his associates and $520,000 to the law firm of Charles Evans Hughes for legal services for Fox and his companies during his complicated litigation with bankers in Federal and State Courts.

In the application of music to a screen story. It follows the production of a big Broadway show from the rehearsals to the grand opening. It shows 150 beautiful girls in some of the most novel and intricate dances ever staged for the screen. The dances and ensembles were created and staged by Busby Berkeley.

THE RESTAURANT CASE

Full Court Appeal Succeeds

Judgment for the appellants was given yesterday by the Full Court in what has become known as the China Restaurant case, in which secured and unsecured creditors of the firm went into liquidation.

Appellants were Au Wing-ki and Au Wing-yun, of 26 Des Voeux Road Central, Victoria, and they were represented by Mr. H. G. Sheldon and Mr. Leo D'Almeida, jnr., barristers, instructed by Messrs. T'so and Hodgson.

Chu Yun-chi, widow, of No. 1 Wood Rd. Victoria, the respondent, was represented by Mr. Eldon Potter, K. C., Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K. C., and Mr. H. C. Macnamara, instructed by Messrs. Woon and Nash.

In May of this year, the Chief Justice on the motion of Chu Yun-chi, set aside an order previously granted by him extending the time for registration of a mortgage and further charge between the China Restaurant, Ltd. on the one side, and Au Wing-ki and Au Wing-yun on the other.

The appeal was for the reversal of this setting-aside and for costs.

The Full Court of Appeal consisted of the Chief Justice, Mr. J. R. Wood, Mr. P. Grant Jones, Judge of the Supreme Court of China, and the Puisne Judge, Mr. R. E. Lindell.

All three judges found for the appellant yesterday.

SOLDIER IN TROUBLE

Prosecuting a Chinese coolie, Kwok Chi, for possession of 50 taels of prepared opium on the Hoi Yung wharf, Connaught Road Central, at the Central Magistracy yesterday, Revenue Officer Grimmit said that the defendant appeared to be one of Sun Yat-sen's former soldiers, judging from his uniform. The accused pleaded guilty and was fined $3,000, in default one year's hard labour.

ASSAULTING WATCHMAN

Pleading not guilty to a charge of assaulting a district watchman at Water Street on Thursday Chau Sam, a coolie, at the Central Police Court yesterday, claimed that the watchman demanded "squeeze" of $25 and tried to arrest him when he refused the demand.

Sub-Inspector Elston said that the accused objected to being searched, and struggled, striking the watchman on the chest and scratching his hands.

The defendant was found guilty and a fine of $25, in default one month's hard labour, was imposed.

IGNORING SIGNAL

For disobeying a traffic signal at the junction of Bonham Road and Pokfulam Road on November 29, Lau Kwai-sing, a public vehicle driver, was fined $15 at the Central Police Court yesterday.

The Rev. Father D. F. Hourigan, of the Salesian Society, in evidence, said that he was riding his motorcycle towards Pokfulam at the time and received the signal to proceed at the junction. The defendant's car approached in the opposite direction but failed to stop. He was obliged to pull up suddenly to avoid an accident.

A public vehicle driver, Lau Mok-hing, was fined $5 by Mr. Hamilton at the Central Police Court yesterday for using insulting language.

Traffic Inspector Nicol said that two persons were crossing the road, at the junction of Ice House Street and Des Voeux Road, on their way to the Star Ferry, when the defendant drove past and swore at them. Inspector Nicol was nearby and heard the language used by the defendant.

"It doesn't look as if he is going to celebrate Christmas, does it?" said Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Police Court yesterday, in imposing a fine of $38 on a lorry-driver, Tam Kwok-Hang, for carrying four tons in excess of the weight limited to his lorry.

A fine of $10 was imposed on a motor lorry driver, Lo Wing, at the Central Police Court yesterday, for speeding at 30 m.p.h. through Whitfield, North Point. Traffic Sergeant Winslade prosecuted and defendant pleaded guilty.

Convicted on a charge of stealing two pieces of leather from a shoemaker in Wyndham Street, So Tin, an unemployed Chinese, was fined $20, in default one month's imprisonment, by Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday. Sin Cheong-yip, a shoemaker, was bound over by the Magistrate in the sum of $25 for 12 months, for receiving the stolen goods.

Sentence of three weeks' hard labour was imposed upon Wok Chung by Mr. Balfour at the Central Police Court yesterday, for unlawful possession of dutiable tobacco. Revenue officer R. O. Grimmit prosecuted.

For cutting phrynum leaves on Bowen Road, Lee Fong, a coolie, was fined $25, in default three weeks' imprisonment, by Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday. The accused did damage to the value of $1.50, and sold the leaves at five cents to a package.

PRESENTATION TO MR. ALLAN CAMERON

Pleasant Function At The C.P.R. Yesterday

FORTY-SEVEN YEARS' SERVICE

A very pleasant function took place in the local offices of the Canadian Pacific yesterday when the opportunity was taken by the staff to say good-bye to Mr. Allan Cameron, who after 47 years' service with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, ten of which were spent in Hong Kong as Oriental Manager, is now resigning from the Company.

Mr. P. A. Cox, assistant Oriental Manager in Shanghai came to Hong Kong specially for the purpose of making this presentation and Mr. David Drummond also spoke on this occasion.

The presents took the form of a fishing rod for Mr. Cameron and a silver tea-set for Mrs. Cameron. Mr. Cameron is retiring at the end of this year and will sail for England in March on the Empress of Britain. It is his intention to settle down in Canada.

TRIBUTE FROM MR. P. A. COX

Mr. P. A. Cox addressing the gathering said:—Mr. Allan Cameron, I have been requested, as being the senior member of the Staff in the Orient under your organization, to say a few words of farewell to you on your retirement shortly from the Company's service. This I consider a great honour, although it is mingled with very many feelings of regret in saying "Goodbye" to you. In the first place Mr. Cameron, I wish you to understand that I am speaking not only on behalf of the Foreign Staff in the Orient but of all the staffs including Portuguese, Chinese, Japanese, Filipino Staffs at our various Agencies in the Orient.

During the time you have held the appointment of Oriental Manager, with a vast territory extending from Japan, Korea, Manchukuo, North China, Hong Kong, Philippine Islands, Indo-China, Siam, Malay States, Java, Burma, to Ceylon and India, you have been beset with many difficulties which you have set with that great determination and tact you are gifted with, and during these years you have given your best to the Company, and it must be some pride to you that although you were due to retire some few years ago, the officials in Montreal requested you to stay on and look after their interests in the Orient. In the course of your time out here your personality, not only amongst the staff, but with everyone who came in contact with you, has made you a marked man well worthy to hold this important appointment and it is with regret that the Staff now realize that your connection with this Company has come to an end, and on behalf of the Staff I wish to express to you their very great appreciation for all that you have done for them, and we feel proud to have worked under a man of outstanding character and personality, and we shall miss you as also will your friends.

I feel quite sure that it is your wish that the Staff show the same loyalty and co-operation as they have shown to you, to your successor Mr. David Drummond, and I can assure you that this will be done, as the Staff realize that Mr. Drummond will be faced with even greater difficulties than when you took over, owing to the great upheaval, financial and otherwise, that has spread to all countries in the world including the countries in the Orient.

Before concluding my remarks, I am sure it is the wish of the Staff that I should mention the name of your wife, who has endeared herself to us all. We know that during your time out here her health has not been of the best, but your wife has stood by you through good and bad times, and it is a very great pleasure to us to see Mrs. Cameron to-day in better health than she has had for years, and long may it remain so.

Well Mr. Cameron, in bidding you "Good-bye" and making this present of a fishing-rod for yourself and a silver tea-set for your wife, subscribed by all the staffs in the Orient, from the Heads of Departments down to the office boy and office cook, we wish you every-thing of the best, and when you are catching those trout in those glorious Canadian rivers and your wife is giving a tea party, we hope you will sometimes think of us out here as we shall often think of you.

I think I should mention that the selection of this presentation was carried out by an old friend of yours, who writes that it was a great pleasure to do this for his old friend, Allan Cameron. This old friend is Sir George McLaren Brown and we thank him for the trouble he has taken.

MR. DRUMMOND

Before officially handing over this presentation, I would like to, as Mr. Drummond, our new Chief, to make a few remarks.

Mr. Allan Cameron, the retiring Oriental Manager of the C. P. R.

Mr. Drummond: Mr. Cox, Ladies and gentlemen.

First of all I would like to thank Mr. Cox for his kind personal reference to me. I appreciate it very much.

When I opened the office for the Company at Southampton in 1922, I had passed on to me a large batch of young bachelors, and in the course of time the inevitable happened. Girls in the Passenger Department bought husbands from the Freight Department, without reference to the Purchasing Department or to me. As a result, when I left England in 1923 to come here, I had a record of 20 marriage presentations. Consequently, imparting advice to those about to be wed became as easy as falling off a log.

This presentation, however, is a new experience, and when it was mooted, I said to Mr. Ryan this was obviously a job for the oldest inhabitant, so that is why we have Mr. Cox with us to-day. I am sure you will agree that Mr. Cox has voiced our feelings towards our retiring Chief in a way we would all like to be able to do.

I saw Mr. Cameron first in Glasgow many many years ago, in 1903 I think, and later on I had a look at Sir George McLaren Brown, I was not on "speaking terms" with either of them then, but I recollect thinking if they represented the set of man the C.P.R. selects for the big jobs, there was little hope for me in that concern.

When it became known that I was coming out to endeavour to fill Mr. Cameron's shoes, it was a great pleasure to me to receive messages of encouragement from men who had served under him in the Old Country and of the esteem in which he was held throughout the Company's organization. One man whom I knew very well, and had been Secretary to Mr. Cameron, took me into his room and pointing to a roll-top desk, said "Tell Mr. Cameron I am still using the desk he used to thump on when I couldn't produce the files he wanted."

Notwithstanding all that, I must admit that I approached the shores of Japan with mixed feelings, wondering how I would be received, but my mind was quickly set at rest by a characteristically cheery radio message from Mr. Cameron bidding me welcome to the Orient. Since then I have been in intimate touch with him and appreciate the association deeply. I shall miss him tremendously on and off the stage of business, but am sure that in the future whether I am wrestling with Tea in Calcutta or trout in Chuzenji I shall often imagine I hear his cheery greeting "Hello there David," and it will help a lot.

MR. CAMERON'S REPLY

I am, therefore, delighted, Mr. Cox, as the youngest inhabitant to support you in your remarks to

Funeral Of Mr. Ho Leung

LAST GATHERING AT YAT PIT TING

Every section of the community was widely represented at the funeral which took place yesterday of Mr. Ho Leung, who died under tragic circumstances on Thursday.

There was a procession of over a mile long of mourners and friends on foot and in motor cars and there was an equally large gathering at Wing Pit Ting, on Pokfulam Road, where the friends of the deceased paid their last respects.

The cortege arrived at Wing Pit Ting at 5 o'clock and those who attended the funeral filed past the coffin, bowing three times in front of it and then to the relatives gathered on both sides of the coffin. The Hon. Sir Thomas Southern was the first to pay his respects, and he was followed by The Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood, The Hon. Mr. R. M. Henderson and The Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson. The four Chinese members of the Executive and Legislative Council then paid their respects and, after that the assembly proceeded in groups of three and four to pay their respects.

Immense wreaths were sent to the funeral, the principal one of which was from His Excellency Sir William and Lady Peel.

The news of the death of Mr. Ho Leung caused a profound shock in the Colony yesterday morning, as he was known among a large circle of friends as a person of amiable disposition and was held in high esteem. Both socially and in business Mr. Ho Leung made many friends who showed their esteem yesterday by attendance at the funeral in such large numbers and by sending so many floral tributes.

The news was telegraphed to Shanghai yesterday and just before the funeral, a cable was received at Messrs. Jardine's reading as follows:—

Please convey to Ho Leung Family, our most sincere and deep regrets—Mr. and Mrs. A. Percy, D. R. Mackenzie, P. Morrison, C. D. Penney, H. Gild and N. K. Chu.

The message was accompanied by a request to send wreaths to the funeral on behalf of the signatories, but arrived too late for the flowers to be sent.

Besides the widow, the principal mourners at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Ho Wing and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ho Kwong and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ho Ki, and children, Mrs. Ho Cheuk and children, Dr. S. C. Ho, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bush, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kew, Dr. and Mrs. E. Law, Mr. and Mrs. Ho Koon Tong and children, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Lo, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Lo, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lo, the Misses Maggie and Cheung, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Tse Yan, Mr. and Mrs. Choy Po Lu, Mr. Andrew Tse, Miss Jean Ho Tung, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Gittens.

Among the large gathering at the funeral were the Hon. Sir Thomas Southern, Hon. Sir Soussan Chow, Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood, Hon. Mr. R. H. Kote-wall, Hon. Mr. S. W. To, Hon. Mr. R. M. Henderson, Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson, Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau.

Others present included Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Stanton and Miss Fearham, Mr. R. Gordon, Mr. T. G. Brayfield, Mr. T. A. Mitchell, Major V. E. Dugles, Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Thomas, Mr. P. C. Hall, Mr. A. H. Potts, Mr. E. Abraham, Mr. R. Pestonji, Mr. L. G. Frost, Mr. E. O. Butler, Mr. A. Kidd and Messrs E. S. Kong, J. M. Wong, A. P. Greaves, S. M. Churn, C.M.S. Alves, Li Koon Chun Li Chi Fong, C. W. pay tributes to a wonderful personality and a wonderful career, and to join you all in wishing Mr. & Mrs. Allan Cameron Happy Days, Good Health and Good Friends in the rest they have earned so well.

Replying, Mr. Cameron said, Mr. Cox, Mr. Drummond and friends, On behalf of my wife and myself I thank you very very much for these gifts. It has rarely occurred that so much feeling and goodwill has been extended to us while in the Company's service as you good folks here have shown. We will cherish these gifts, and will remember you all and your kindness to us while out here.

There are times when words are difficult to gather together to express oneself, and just now my heart is full, but I can assure you that I appreciate all that you have said. The flattering things you have said of me bring to my mind the story of the Irish widow whose husband died. She went to the church and the priest was eulogizing her late husband's good qualities, when she nudged her son and said "It couldn't be your father he is talking about; see if there isn't another corpse in the church."

Words cannot express just how I feel, but I want to assure you that I do feel and appreciate this very much.

To know the truth, however, is not always easy, because there are many things masquerading under the semblance of it, and whisky is no exception. But the truth of flavour about this choice old stimulant is verified by the world's ablest judges of whisky. It is a sign of excellence and age development. The true whisky is

The Daily Press

HONG KONG, DECEMBER 23, 1933.

RANDOM COMMENT

Last Thursday a representative of the Daily Press was fortunate enough to secure an exclusive interview with Mr. Hu Han Min, that alert personality whose name has been appearing more and more regularly in press comment on Chinese affairs. His opinion has been sought by Nanking as well as Kwangtung, and Mr. Eugene Chen, never at a loss for words, has not hesitated to quote facetiously from statements uttered by him.

The way the wind is blowing indicates that it may not be long before Mr. Hu will be required to bear a part of the burden of Government on his shoulders. To judge by his opinions on conditions in China at present and his strong aversion to the rapacious militarism that has been draining the resources of the country for so long and severed the arteries of commerce, that part will be neither negligible nor easy.

Mr. Hu is one of the few Chinese statesmen who fully recognise the menacing signs of decomposition in the country, as he has shown in so many words, "the time has arrived when the Nation must pull itself together and face the impending disintegration frankly and consistently. All those who have the destiny of the Nation in their hands should sink their personal ambitions and put every ounce of their strength into tackling the perplexing problems that confront the people of China." Fine words, those; divorced from the self-seeking which taints the outlook of too many of China's leaders to-day. His views on militarism are as decided, "if the country is to be unified, the military system will have to go and the military organisation will have to be subverted to the civil government." His chief aversion, however, is towards the Communists and bandits who are such a bane to the countryside and whose ranks are swelled by that militarism which he condemns. "The people have been groaning long enough, indeed, under the intolerable injustices of Communism, banditry, soldiery and military tyrants."

These views are above criticism. The impression the Daily Press representative received was of a fearless and keen-minded personality. We sincerely commend these views and hope Mr. Hu Han Min will be given the opportunity to put them into practice.

In his address at the Annual Meeting of the Anti-Mui Tsai Society, Mr. Bush did not mince words and his review of the work done and the suffering many of the mui tsai was nothing if not comprehensive.

It is hard for us to conceive of slavery flourishing in this modern age. To the popular mind slavery disappeared in the last century with slave traders, hard-jowled overseers wielding whips and blacks sweated on plantations. That it is a practice carried on under our very noses must be shocking to weak nerves, if their owners can ever summon interest enough to consider the question. "Mui tsai," in fact, is synonymous with "slave girl."

While the mui tsai in most parts of China is not much better off than she was, it must be stated in all fairness that the authorities have done a great deal towards the suppression of virtual slavery in Hong Kong, and, while its entire suppression will not be effected until the emancipation of women reaches all classes, any maltreatment of mui tsai is very seriously punished.

"It is not too much to say," declared Mr. Bush, "that as yet it is but the dawn breaking after the long, long night of the slave girl's sorrow and pain. Within the last thirty years a vast change has come over the mentality of women in China. The men have taken the changed position of women sympathetically. Even towards slave-girls the attitude in Chinese households is gradually becoming more and more consistently liberating."

LONDON SILVER AGREEMENT RATIFIED

Increase In Price Of Silver Probable

TEXT OF ROOSEVELT'S PROCLAMATION

The following is the proclamation made by President Roosevelt on the coinage of silver dollars in the United States:

Washington, December 22. "Whereas by paragraph 11, section 43 Title 111, of the Act which Congress approved on May 5, 1933, the President is authorized by proclamation to fix the weight of the gold dollar at grains of nine tenths fine, also fix the weight of the silver dollar at grains nine tenths fine, and at a definite fixed ratio in relation to the gold dollar at such amounts as he find necessary from his investigation of domestic prices, or to protect currencies and provided for unlimited coinage such as gold and silver at a ratio so fixed, and whereas, from investigations made by me, I find it necessary in the aid of the stabilization of domestic prices, and in accordance with the policy of the programme authorized by Congress, which is now being administered and to protect our foreign commerce against the adverse effect of depreciated foreign currencies, that price of silver will be enhanced and stabilized, and whereas, the resolution presented by the Delegation of the United States was unanimously adopted at the World Economic Conference, on July 20, by representatives of sixty-six Governments which substantially provided that the said Governments would abandon the policy of the practice of melting up or debasing silver coins.

INDIA'S UNDERTAKING
That low valued silver currency be replaced by silver coins, that legislation will not be enacted that will deprecate the value of silver, and, whereas, a separate supplemental agreement be entered at the instance of representatives of the United States between China, India, and Spain, as large holders and users of silver and Australia, Canada, Mexico, Peru and the United States as the chief producers, in which China agreed not to dispose of any silver melting up or debasement of silver coins and India agreed not to dispose of over 35,000,000 ounces of silver per annum for four years commencing on January 1, 1934. Spain agreed not to dispose of more than 5,000,000 ounces of silver annually for the said period, and both agreed thereafter to subject themselves to a general resolution adopted by the World Economic Conference and in consideration of such limitation it was agreed that the Governments of the five producing countries each absorb from mines in their respective countries a certain amount of silver, the total to be absorbed by producing countries being 35,000,000 ounces per annum during the four years.

CO-OPERATION PROPER
That such silver so absorbed would be retained by each of the respective countries for four years to be used for coinage or currency reserves or otherwise kept off the world market for such period. It is understood that from the total of 35,000,000 ounces, the United States will absorb annually at least 24,421,410 ounces of silver produced in the United States for four years. Now, therefore, finding it proper to co-operate with other stabilizing of domestic prices to augment the purchasing power of peoples in silver using countries, to protect our foreign commerce against the adverse effect of depreciated foreign currencies carry out the understanding signed by Governments that had adopted the resolution referred to above; by virtue of other legislation designed for national recovery and by virtue of all other authority vested in Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America do proclaim and direct each United States coinage mint to receive for coinage into standard dollars any silver which such mint is subjected to the regulations prescribed hereunder by the Secretary of the Treasury is satisfied that the said silver was mined subsequently to the date of this proclamation from natural deposits in the United States or any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof.

THE PITTMAN ACT
"The Director of the Mint, with the voluntary consent of the owner, shall deduct or retain, of such silver so received 50% as reclamation and for services of the United States Government relative to the coinage and delivery of silver dollars.

The balance of such silver so received, namely, fifty per cent. thereof, shall be coined into standard silver dollars and the same or equal number of other standard silver dollars shall be delivered to the owner or depositor of such silver. Fifty per cent. of such silver so retained as bullion by the Treasury, shall not be disposed of prior to January 31, 1937, except for coining United States coins.

"It recalls the terms of the silver Resolution in the London Conference which says that contingent on the agreement between the governments of the countries producing and countries holding or using large quantities of silver.

"Looking to the elimination of an unnatural over-supply of silver on the markets of the world, this agreement, of course, was for the purpose of allowing the demand and supply to govern the price of silver by limitation of neutralization. This oversupply is derived from melting silver coins.

"India had power to dispose of the markets of the world at any time and any price hundreds of millions of ounces of silver. She indeed had the power and capacity to dump silver derived from melting Indian silver coins. In an amount equal to the world's production from mines for two years.

"This power and uncertainty attending its execution was destructive to the value and stability of silver throughout the world."

"Referring to the United States, undertaking to take exists from the mines annually at least up to 24,421,410 ounces of silver for four years, this concludes the production of the United States for 1932 which was approximately 24 million ounces of silver.—Reuter.

The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to prescribe regulations to carry out the purposes of this Proclamation. Such regulations contain a provision substantially similar to provisions contained in the regulations made pursuant to Act of Congress on April 23, known as the Pittman Act with such changes as to determine and prescribing how silver is mined after the date of this proclamation from natural deposits in the United States or any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof shall be identified.

"This proclamation shall remain in force until December 31, 1937 unless repealed or modified by Act of Congress or a subsequent Proclamation.—Reuter.

SENATOR PITTMAN'S VIEWS

Washington, Dec. 22. Senator Key Pittman, Chairman of the United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that President Roosevelt's action meant an enormous increase in the United States export trade and would result in world-wide stabilization of the silver price at 64.5 cents per ounce.

Senator Pittman is most elated at this "Christmas present" and said that he is confident that Canada, Australia, Mexico and Peru will act similarly and that the increased silver value will increase the exchange value of those countries to the same extent, including their buying capacity, which will aid the raising commodities' prices, and tend greatly to help the United States recovery and hasten a return to normal conditions.—Reuter.

GEN. O'DUFFY RELEASED
Judge Says Detention Is Illegal

Dublin, Dec. 22. General O'Duffy, leader of the Irish Free State National Guard, who was arrested on Sunday at Westport, where he was scheduled to make a speech to a gathering of "Blue Shirts," is to be released immediately.

The order for release was made by the Judge of the Supreme Court, who is satisfied that General O'Duffy's detention is illegal.

No charge was preferred against General O'Duffy, but he was arrested on the grounds that he was wearing the uniform of the "Blue Shirts," an organisation declared illegal by the President of the Free State, Mr. Eamon De Valera.—Reuter.

AMERICA TO BUY SILVER

At 64.5 Cents Per Ounce

Washington, Dec. 21. President Roosevelt has ratified the London silver agreement, and has also ordered Government purchases of silver.

President Roosevelt made the announcement in a proclamation, in which he says that under the clear authority granted him in the last session of Congress, he has ratified the London-Silver Agreement which has already been put into effect by the Government of India.

MINTING PLAN
The Proclamation, in accordance with the Act of Congress, opens the United States Mints to the coinage of standard silver dollars from silver which may hereafter be produced in the United States and its possessions, subject to the depositors of such silver surrendering to the Government one-half thereof as seigniorage and to cover all usual charges and expenses.

Dollars coined from one half of such newly-minted silver will be returned to the depositor and the one half surrendered to the Government will be retained by the Treasury.—Reuter.

THOMAS AMENDMENT
The Proclamation mentions the Thomas amendment to the Recovery Act, which authorizes the President to devalue the gold or silver content of the dollar. The President says that in investigations showed it to be necessary that the silver price be enhanced and stabilized in order to assist increasing and stabilizing domestic prices and to augment the purchasing power of the peoples of silver-using countries and to protect the foreign commerce of the United States against the adverse effect of depreciated foreign currencies.

The proclamation will remain in force until December 31, 1937, unless repealed or modified. The President, after referring to India's ratification of the silver agreement, said that he understood that other nations were concerned about the Act. He said he believed that adherence would achieve stability in the price of silver and permit the law of supply and demand to govern.—Reuter.

PRESIDENT'S PLAN.
Later. President Roosevelt has ordered the United States Mints to coin half the annual production of twenty-four million ounces for the benefit of the producers, the other half to be kept in the Treasury as reserve.

The White House has estimated that this will give a price of 64 cents an ounce, or half the legal price, and considerably above the market price.

The coinage is subject to the producers' desire. It will mean the fullage of $13,900,000 in silver dollars.—Reuter.

W.E.C. RESOLUTION
In the course of his proclamation, President Roosevelt also refers to the United States silver resolution at the World Economic Conference and to the supplementary agreement between the silver producers reached in London and continued.

"Now, therefore, finding it proper to co-operate with other Governments and necessary to assist in increasing and stabilizing domestic prices, I direct that each United States coinage mint shall receive, for coinage into standard silver dollars, any silver which such Mint, subject to certain regulations prescribed by the Treasury is satisfied has been mined subsequently to the date of this Proclamation.

RATIO UNCHANGED
The present ratio in weight for fineness of the silver-dollar to the gold dollar shall be maintained until changed by the further order of the Proclamation. "Notice is hereby given that I reserve the right to revoke or modify this Proclamation as the interest of the United States may require.—Reuter.

London, Dec. 22. The people in Britain have good reason to celebrate Christmas in cheerful spirit for conditions are now much better than a year ago, and indeed for some years past, and there is general confidence that the improvement will continue. FUKIEN-NANKING CLASH

Heavy Casualties Feared

(From Our Special Correspondent)
Canton, Dec. 22. According to a military report received here from Swatow, a heated encounter between the Fukien and Nanking troops is now taking place around the towns of Hing Yuen and Shun Tai. The front column of the Fukien army under the command of General Tam Kai Shau, the famous defender of the Woosung forts during the Sino-Japanese conflict in Shanghai, launched a surprised attack on Shun Tai, a town near the Fukien-Chekiang border.

The terrific battle did not cease until yesterday morning, and it is believed that the casualties on both sides would be very heavy. Several scouting aeroplanes from the Fukien Air Force made daily observations over the Fukien-Chekiang border almost every day, although so far no bombs have been dropped from these aeroplanes.

General Chiang Kai Shek, the chairman of the Nanking Military Council, has again despatched another telegram to General Chen Chi Tang, the commander-in-chief of the First Group Army, at Canton urging him to mobilise his troops to attack Fukien along the East River. According to the telegram, General Chiang is said to have the Fukien situation well in hand. He will personally lead an expeditionary army composed of twenty divisions to invade northern Fukien. General Lu Tiao Ping and General Chiang Ting Wen, loyal supporters of Nanking have been instructed to push their army from Tai Shun and Hing Yuen to Ying Ping. The Nanking navy under the command of Admiral Chen Shao Fuh, the Minister of the Chinese navy, will blockade the Fukien coast.

The headquarters of the First Group Army received information from Fukien yesterday that General Tsai Ting Kai and General Chiang Kwang Nai, the leaders of the Nineteenth Route Army, are busily disposing the troops to meet the Nanking onslaught. All the divisions of the 5th Army under the command of General Tam Kai Shau have been assigned to the front line of attack while the troops of the 1st Army under General Shum Kwong Hon will be responsible for the defence of the province. The 6th Army under General Oong Shao Yun will be on the reserve. General Mo Wei Shau, the commander of the 2nd Army has been assigned to take charge for the reorganisation of the People's Volunteers Corps.

SIR JOHN SIMON'S VIEWS ON GERMANY'S AIMS

Important Speech In House Of Commons

London, Dec. 21. An important speech was made by the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, who delayed his departure for his short Continental holiday until this evening in order to take part in the discussion on foreign affairs which mainly occupied the attention of the House of Commons before the House this afternoon adjourned for Christmas.

He remarked that there had been very prompt and vigorous efforts from more capitals than one since Germany's withdrawal from the Disarmament Conference. One of the most important things that had happened was that Chancellor Hitler had been making some declarations by wireless and other means which, whatever we might think of their contents, were of very great moment to all the world.

SARRE
One declaration was of special interest to France. Almost at the same time as Germany withdrew, Herr Hitler said, "It would be of the first importance for the two nations if Germany and France could once and for all ban the use of force from their common lives. No territorial conflict exists between the two countries so far as Germany is concerned, once the Sarre is returned."

The British Government had been concerning themselves very actively with what was the real purpose of those declarations. They had made it plain that in making such inquiries they were not expressing approval of some of the proposals which had been thrown out or indicated. But it did appear to them that it certainly was their duty to do their utmost to clarify the situation and to find out what really was behind it.

Inquiries had, in fact, been very actively conducted and the British Ambassador in Berlin was asked to come to London and see the Government. It appeared that on the political side of the technical questions of armaments, Chancellor Hitler had made propositions which were certainly intended to be formal proposals and that the information published that he was suggesting non-aggressive pacts between Germany and her neighbours was justified.

As Government understood it, the proposals under that head did not confine themselves to one particular neighbour, but were put forward for consideration by all Germany's neighbours.

LEAGUE OBLIGATIONS
In dealing with the matter, the Government had been very careful to indicate that they had not forgotten the obligations which rested on members of the League of Nations and therefore the form in which such pacts of non-aggression might be cast would have to be considered in view of the undoubted obligations which the Covenant put on the parties to it.

The Government had also been in very close contact with those best informed on the French attitude.

Inquiries and discussions between the various Governments and capitals had been going on and were now continuing. Sir John stated that he would see the French Foreign Minister in Paris possibly to-morrow. They were in constant communication and it was extremely important that they should get as closely together as they could in understanding how the suggestions put forward by the German Government stood in regard to the policy and the requirements of Germany's neighbours.

It was impossible to make any explicit declaration when conversations were being pursued. There was, however, a moment coming when undoubtedly these different inquiries must be gathered together to see what result they produced.

The Disarmament Conference was adjourned so that these inquiries might be made, but it was hoped to resume the conference in January when statements must be made as to their results.

Sir John quite agreed that they did not want to depart from the system of international negotiations in favour of merely bilateral discussions. He could not regard, at this stage, bilateral communications as other than an intermediate or preliminary stage, which ought to lead to a wider international application.

Regarding the inspection of armaments, he understood the German Government, as part of their general scheme, were prepared to contemplate the establishment of international inspections and control of the armaments of all countries operating periodically and automatically.

In this respect there had undoubtedly been an advance in public opinion generally.

Regarding the League of Nations the Foreign Secretary reiterated that British policy was "unswervingly to stand by and support the League. Whilst they observed the declarations made in foreign countries indicating a desire for the revision of the League they had no reason to suppose that any definite proposals were being advanced. He did not know of any.—British Wireless.

SWEDISH VESSEL SUNK

London, Dec. 22. Seven people, including a stewardess, were drowned when the Swedish steamer, "Castor," sank off Spurn Head, Yorkshire, after a collision with a Hull trawler, s.s. Kurd.

The accident took place during a thick fog, and the "Castor," a vessel of 569 tons, sank almost immediately.

Seven survivors were picked up by the trawler, and were landed at Hull yesterday.

The six main victims were members of the crew.—British Wireless Service.

Some Notes On The Game

The best game of to-day's football matches will be seen at Caroline Hill where St. Joseph's meet the Athletics. The Chinese did well to beat the Club last week and the Saints will have to look to their laurels if they have to maintain the position they now hold in the table.

At Sookunpoo the Borderers are at home to the Club and this match should be keenly contested although on present form the Borderers should win.

The Navy travel to King's Park and are certain to return with the points. The military game on the Valley ground should be a good attraction for the Services, although it is fully expected that the Lincolns will defeat the Gunners by a good margin.

Kowloon and the Police meet on the Railway ground and this match should be a good attraction for the mainland. The Police always like the Railway ground and should add to their points in the table.

In division II the best game is also at Caroline Hill where the South China seconds meet the Navy Reserves. South China head division II table, but they may drop to the Lincolns who meet the Club at Sookunpoo. S. W. B. and R. A. should play a close game at Happy Valley.

Young Indians will visit the Railway ground to meet Kowloon. This game should be keenly contested, but the Indians are confident to return with the points.

In division III, South China and Lincolns meet on the Chatham Road ground and a win for the Lincolns is expected.

The Borderers should win at King's Park, while the game between the Sappers and Airmen at the Valley should end in a draw.

On Sunday, the East Lancashires receive South China at Sookunpoo. South China should win easily on the present form of both teams.

It is a far cry back to when I first joined the C.P.R., and my life throughout the whole of my service in the C.P.R. has been very delightful. I have been buffeted about from one part of the service to another, but it all was probably good for me in the making.
My stay out here—the last 11 years—has been exceptionally pleasant. You have all extended to me the hand of friendship and kindness, and a willingness and loyalty that made the work easy and enabled us to overcome the difficulties as they arose in front of us. Had it not been for all the loyalty that you have expressed to-day, would never have been so. You are the men who helped me, and bear in mind that you are men who are doing the actual hard work for the Company.

I want to take the opportunity, though I do not feel capable of making a speech at the moment, of saying to you all, although it has been assured by Mr. Cox, to give the same loyal support to Mr. Drummond that you have given to me;
that will redound to the benefit of you all and to the Company.
All you my Chinese, Portuguese and other friends have a very warm spot in my heart, and I can only say again that I thank you very much for these gifts, which we shall value greatly in the days to come.

KOWLOON JUNIOR SCHOOL Entertainment At Y.M.C.A.

The pupils of the Kowloon Junior School rendered a most enjoyable entertainment in the West Lounge of the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday evening, which was much appreciated by the large audience composed of the parents and friends of the children. The first item on the programme was "Nursery Rhymes and Songs" by the tiny tots of the Kindergarten.
Then followed "A Pirate Play".
In one act, entitled "Peter Coffin".
The scenery for the play, consisting of a tropical island entirely surrounded by water, was designed and executed by Miss Stuart, as were also the costumes of the actors. The concluding item on the programme was "A Nativity Play" in two acts, the first scene being the shepherds in the fields near Bethlehem and the second being the stable in Bethlehem.
Mrs. Hudson arranged the Nativity Play, which was very well performed by the small children.

The senior class having been promoted last month to the Central British School, is only the younger pupils who remained to participate in the entertainment.
Miss Cooper, the Principal, expressed deep appreciation of the courtesy of the Y.M.C.A. authorities in lending the fine hall of the practices and the performance, which was crowded to the limit of its capacity.

RACE FOR OASIS TROPHY Pilot, Forced Down In Desert

Cairo, December 22.
The race for the "Oasis Trophy," one of the biggest serial Derby ever organised, has begun over a circuit of 900 miles.
Twenty-two competitors of various nationalities have already landed at a place 500 miles from Cairo.
The only other competitor, an Egyptian named Hazik, had a forced landing 60 miles west of Kharga in a spot so inaccessible that even camels cannot reach it.
He was luckily spotted by a French pilot who reported the mishap. Two machines of the Egyptian Air Force proceeded to the spot and rescued Hazik uninjured.
His damaged aeroplane will be repaired for flight later.—Reuter.

LIMITATION OF RUBBER GROWING

London, December 22.
The Amsterdam correspondent of the Financial Times has learned from well-informed quarters that important secret meetings between the rubber producers and the Dutch Government representatives are being held at the Colonial Department of The Hague, and he is reliably informed that the progress of the negotiations again look promising.
Inside observers are apparently convinced that restriction will shortly be a "fait accompli" and are of the opinion that it may be put into operation by May next.
The correspondent is also informed that a further important rubber restriction conference will be held before the end of December, probably in Holland.—Reuter.

REICHSTAG FIRE TRIAL ENDS

Van Der Lubbe Condemned To Death

Berlin, Dec. 22.
Chancellor Hitler, and the Prussian Commissioner, General
Hermann Goering, were yesterday informed of the verdict of the Reichstag fire trial.
It is learned from a usually trustworthy source that the verdict condemns Van der Lubbe to death and acquits the three Bulgarians of grounds of lack of evidence.

The verdict also acquits Tor-gler on the charge of incendiarism, but it is understood that the Court will hold him for a new trial with other Communists on a charge of high treason.

Upon acquittal, Dimitroff, Popoff and Taneff, will be handed to the Prussian political police who will be responsible for their safety until they reach the German frontier, in view of rumours that certain Nazi extremists have proposed that the three Bulgarians be not allowed to reach the frontier alive.

It is understood that both
Chancellor Hitler and General Goering have expressed their determination to see the Bulgarians safely out of Germany.

It is pointed out that General
Goering will be blamed abroad or any untoward incident in consequence of his heated remark to Dimitroff in the course of the trial.
"Wait until we get you out of the power of this Court"—Reuter.

Marshal Chiang Kai-shek has completed all preparations for the drive.
The Army, Navy and Air Force are only awaiting the order to swing into action.
Admiral Chen Shao-kwan himself will proceed to the Fukien coast to

THE OVER VALUED FRANC

Why People Are Selling

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Nov. '30. Although the decline of francs is persistent, it is not more pronounced than several previous declines. In terms of sterling francs are very dear compared with the average rate for, say, last year. As sterling has improved by reason of Britain's larger international balance the franc, where the balance of payments has worsened, must be at an artificially high value.

If there is anything in purchasing power parity the franc should be much nearer to 100 to the £ than it is.

For these economic reasons, as well as because France is expected to be driven to desert gold English people who have credit accounts in francs are having them converted into sterling. Americans are taking gold from the Bank of France. Some French money is leaving Paris.

On top of these current capital movements there is considerable speculative selling of francs which is beginning to press upon the rate of exchange.

Previously "bear" speculators have been squeezed by the Bank of France. They are more fearless than ever in this decline. They predict confidently that the franc will go on declining.

UNION COLD STORAGE CRITICS

The market in Union Cold Storage Preference stock has been somewhat unsettled by the proposed reduction with cash compensation, of the dividend rates.

Admittedly the present fixed dividend rates (6 per cent. on £8,000,000 of First Preference, 7 per cent. on £2,000,000 of Second Preference, and 10 per cent. on £1,000,000 of A Preference) are very high.

Critics of the directors' proposals say that the present low rate of interest on loan money will not last and that the company is not offering sufficient cash compensation for the reductions they propose. As is known the immediate cash payment is equivalent in each case to ten years' capitalisation of the amount taken off the dividends.

In these days sound high-yielding investments are hard to find, and it is claimed that the cash payments will not be easy to re-invest on a profitable basis.

ALLSOPPS AND IND. COOPE

It is expected that the directors of Samuel Allsopp and Sons will announce their final dividend on the Ordinary shares to-morrow or Friday.

The satisfactory results now coming to hand from most brewery companies has caused the market to look upon the coming announce-
